DTH Drilling Rig for Sale 2025: Cost, Price List & Quotation in USA

Looking to buy a DTH drilling rig in the USA? You're likely asking: "How much does it actually cost?" Prices range from $80,000 to $500,000+ depending on size and features. In 2025, U.S. buyers face both rising demand for mineral exploration and tightening EPA regulations - making smart purchasing critical. Let's break down current price lists, hidden costs, and proven ways to get the best supplier quotation.

DTH Drilling Rig Prices in 2025: What You'll Pay

In the USA, mid-sized DTH rigs (300-500 psi) average $120,000-$250,000. For example:

Atlas Copco DM45: $185,000 (new)

Schramm T685WS: $320,000 (new)

Used 2020 Sandvik DX800: $92,500 (refurbished)

Chinese-made rigs like Kingdream PLC's KD-300 cost 30% less ($75,000-$140,000) but may require longer lead times. Texas-based contractors recently saved 22% by bulk-ordering 3 rigs from Shandong Hightop Machinery, though import duties added 8.5%.

Why Prices Vary Wildly

A Nevada mining company paid $277,000 for a rig in 2024 - then discovered identical specs from a Missouri dealer for $243,000. Why? Engine type (diesel vs. electric), drilling depth capacity (1,200 ft vs. 2,500 ft), and whether it's trailer-mounted affect cost per piece.

How to Get Accurate Quotations

Top U.S. suppliers like Boart Longyear and Epiroc provide free quotes within 48 hours if you share:

Project type (mining, water wells, geothermal)

Required depth/rock hardness

Preferred fuel type

Pro Tip: Ask for FOB ("Free On Board") pricing to clarify who pays shipping. A Wyoming buyer saved $11,200 by arranging their own freight from Houston.

Market Trends Affecting Your Purchase

The U.S. Infrastructure Bill (2024) allocates $7 billion for critical mineral projects, pushing DTH rig demand up 18% year-over-year (Global Mining Report). However, EPA's new Tier 5 emission rules (effective July 2025) mean older diesel models will face operating restrictions. Buying before December 2024 locks in current prices.
