DTH Drilling Rig for Sale in Chile 2025: Price List, Supplier Quotes & Buying Guide

Looking to buy a DTH drilling rig in Chile? You're not alone. Over 78% of mining and construction companies in South America struggle with unclear pricing and unreliable suppliers. Let's cut through the noise - we've got the latest cost breakdowns, trusted vendor recommendations, and tips to save 15-30% on your purchase.

Why DTH Drilling Rig Prices Vary Wildly in Chile

In 2024, Chilean buyers paid between $85,000 and $450,000 for new DTH rigs. This 429% price gap comes from:

Power capacity (12-40 bar models)

Chinese vs German/US brands

Government tariffs (up to 11.5% for imported equipment)

Real-World Price Example: Sandvik vs SANY

A copper mine in Antofagasta saved $127,000 by choosing a Chinese SANY SGD90 rig ($218,000) over a comparable Sandvik DE712 model ($345,000). Maintenance costs? $18/hour vs $42/hour.

2025 Cost Factors You Can't Ignore

Three things will reshape DTH drilling rig prices in Chile next year:

New lithium exploration licenses (47% increase forecast)

China's BRI infrastructure deals (15% tariff reductions)

Local assembly incentives in Mejillones Free Zone

How to Get the Best Quotation

Top suppliers like Epiroc Chile and XCMG now offer ROI calculators. For a mid-sized 25-bar rig:

Price per hour worked: $32-$58

Break-even point: 1,900 hours

Warranty savings: $12,000-$25,000 over 5 years

Case Study: Wholesale Win in Atacama

A water well contractor bought 3 low-cost DTH rigs from Henan Sinoder via Alibaba. Total spend: $589,000 (vs $827,000 local quotes). Shipping? 23 days from Shanghai to Caldera Port. Customs clearance? Done through Chile's Simplified Import System.
