Second Hand Core Drilling Rig Price in Egypt: 2025 Cost List, Quotation & Supplier Deals

Need a second hand core drilling rig but worried about cost and reliability? You're not alone. Over 72% of construction companies in Egypt now prefer used equipment to meet tight budgets. Let's break down the price in Egypt, smart buying tactics, and how to avoid costly mistakes.

Why Buy Used Core Drilling Rigs in Egypt?

Egypt's construction boom demands affordable solutions. The government's $40 billion infrastructure plan has pushed equipment rentals up by 18% since 2023. Yet second hand core drilling rigs cut upfront costs by 30-60% compared to new units.

2025 Price Trends You Can't Ignore

A used Bauer BG 28 rotary rig now sells for $18,000-$26,000 in Cairo - 45% cheaper than its 2023 new model. Chinese brands like Sany and XCMG dominate 68% of Egypt's used market, with price per piece ranging from $15,000 to $50,000 depending on:

- Drill depth capacity (30m vs 100m+)
- Condition (3,000 hours vs 8,000+ hours)
- Local supplier vs direct import

3 Hidden Costs That Impact Your ROI

Delta Machinery's 2024 case study shows why Cairo buyers should demand:

- Certified engine hour reports (22% of sellers exaggerate performance)
- On-site hydraulic pressure tests
- Spare parts availability (German-built rigs have 34% faster parts delivery)

How to Get the Best Quotation

Egyptian importers saved 27% by purchasing through Turkey's Ritchie Bros auctions last quarter. But local suppliers like Egypt Heavy Equipment Hub offer 6-month warranties - a key safety net for first-time buyers.

Where to Find Reliable Wholesale Deals

Germany and Italy remain top sources for European-made used rigs, but shipping adds $2,800-$4,200 to price in Egypt. For faster deals, check Alexandria's Port Said Free Zone where 160+ pre-inspected units are stocked monthly.

Last month, a Luxor contractor bought a 2019 Soilmec R625 for $31,200 - 58% below new rates - through
