Second Hand DTH Drilling Rig Price in South Korea 2024: Updated Cost List, Quotes & Supplier Deals

Looking for second hand DTH drilling rigs in South Korea but stuck between quality doubts and budget limits? You're not alone. Over 60% of construction companies now opt for used equipment to cut costs. Let's break down prices, reliable suppliers, and smart buying strategies - without risking your ROI.

Why Second-Hand DTH Rigs Dominate South Korea's Market

South Korea's mining and construction sectors grew 8% in 2023 (Statista), pushing demand for affordable heavy machinery. A new DTH drilling rig costs KRW550-800 million ($400K-580K), while quality used models sell for 30-50% less. Seoul-based quarry operator Kangwon Minerals saved KRW220 million buying a refurbished 2020 Sandvik DX800 - operational within 2 weeks.

3 Hidden Costs That Tank Used Rig ROI

Shipping nightmares: 25% buyers report customs delays with China-sourced rigs

Untested components: A single damaged hammer can cost KRW8.5 million

No local support: German-made rigs often lack Korean-language manuals
