Second Hand Drilling Hammer Price in Jordan 2024: Cost, Suppliers & Wholesale Deals

Need a second hand drilling hammer in Jordan but worried about price or quality? You're not alone. Over 60% of Jordanian contractors now opt for used equipment to cut costs - and with new models costing up to $5,000, recycled tools make serious financial sense. Let's unpack current market rates, trusted suppliers, and how to get the best ROI.

Why Jordan's Market Demands Affordable Drilling Solutions

Jordan's construction sector grew 4.2% in 2023 (Central Bank of Jordan), yet budgets remain tight. A contractor in Amman recently told us: "We saved 43% on a used drilling hammer from China compared to European models. It handled 6 months of quarry work without issues." This mirrors regional trends where price per piece matters more than brand prestige.

2024 Price Breakdown: Used vs. New

- Second hand pneumatic hammers: $800-$1,800
- Reconditioned hydraulic models: $1,200-$2,500
- New equivalents: $2,800-$5,300+

Prices vary by make (Atlas Copco, Sandvik), condition, and supplier location. Turkish imports often hit the lower range, while German-refurbished units cost 15-20% more.

3 Trusted Suppliers With Verified Quotations

- HeavyMach Jordan (Amman): Offers 6-month warranties on rebuilt hammers. Recent price list shows:
$1,250 (Ingersoll Rand T4)
$1,980 (Sandvik DP1500i)
- Desert Equipment Traders (Aqaba): Specializes in Japan/Korea imports. Quoted $1,450 for a 2021 Furukawa FXJ375 with 80% drill bit life remaining.
- Online Platforms: Check heavyequipment.jo for real-time auctions - 3 Atlas Copco COP 1840s sold for $1,100/unit last month.

How to Negotiate Like a Pro

- Ask for oil analysis reports (critical for hydraulic models)
- Compare transport fees - Aqaba suppliers charge $180 avg. inland delivery
- Bulk discounts: Order 5+ units for 8-12% wholesale price cuts

Market Trends: China's Rising Influence

Chinese manufacturers now supply 38% of Jordan's used drilling tools (2024 Jordan Customs data). A 2023 SANY SY135C hammer purchased via Alibaba cost a Madaba mining firm $950 - 52% cheaper than local options. However, verify certifications: Some units lack ISO 9017 compliance required for government projects.

Whether you're drilling through Jordan's limestone bedrock or handling urban projects, smart sourcing beats overspending. As one Irbid contractor put it: "My $1,300 used hammer drills 2 meters/hour - same as the $3,400 'premium' model we tested." Ready to explore options?
