Second Hand Drilling Hammer Price in Sri Lanka 2024: Cost List, Quotation & Supplier Deals

Are you searching for second hand drilling hammers to cut costs on construction projects in Sri Lanka? With growing demand for affordable heavy machinery, over 68% of contractors now consider used equipment to maximize ROI. Let's break down current price in Sri Lanka, trusted suppliers, and smart buying strategies.

Why Second Hand Drilling Hammers Are Surging in Sri Lanka

Construction projects increased by 23% in Sri Lanka during 2023 (Central Bank of Sri Lanka). But new equipment costs rose 18% due to global supply chain issues. This gap makes pre-owned drilling hammers a hot commodity. Typical price range:

Light-duty models: LKR 150,000-350,000

Heavy-duty units: LKR 500,000-1.2M

Last month, a Colombo contractor saved LKR 280,000 by buying a refurbished Atlas Copco HB 2000 from a Germany-based exporter.

3 Hidden Costs That Impact Your Quotation

Many buyers focus only on the price per piece, but ignore:

Import taxes (28% for used machinery)

Spare part availability (Chinese models have 40% faster delivery)

Fuel efficiency (Older models consume 15-30% more diesel)

How to Verify Quality When Buying Used

A Kandy-based construction firm uses this checklist:

Ask for hydraulic pressure test reports

Check hour meters - under 3,000 hours preferred

Verify compatibility with common drill bits (e.g., 32mm-127mm)

Top local suppliers like HeavyMach Lanka offer 3-month warranties on certified refurbished units. For bulk wholesale purchases (5+ units), expect 8-12% discounts.

Government Policy Alert: New Import Rules

From July 2024, Sri Lanka requires EPA Tier 3 certification for all used construction machinery imports. Non-compliant equipment faces 15% penalty fees. Always request emission compliance documents with your quotation.

Where to Find Reliable Suppliers

While local dealers offer quick delivery, international platforms like Alibaba and TradeKey often provide better price in Sri Lanka. A recent deal:

- o Seller: YG Machinery (China)
- o Model: YG-80C Crawler Drill
- o Price: USD 6,200 FOB -> LKR 2.1M landed cost
- o Delivery: 25-30 days via Colombo Port

For urgent needs, check Colombo Commercial Heavy Equipment Auctions - next event on August 14, 2024. Last auction saw 12 drilling hammers sold at 22% below market average.

Ready to negotiate? Always compare at least 3 supplier deals and factor in 10-15% for immediate repairs. A well-maintained second hand drilling hammer can deliver 70% of new equipment performance at half the cost.
