Second Hand Drilling Rod Price in India 2024: Cost List, Quotation & Wholesale Guide

Why Second Hand Drilling Rods Are Booming in India

Looking for second hand drilling rod price in India? You're not alone. Over 12,000 businesses searched for affordable drilling tools last month. New rods cost INR8,000-INR15,000 per piece, but second-hand options slash prices by 35-50% - a lifeline for small contractors and rural drilling crews.

Market Trends: Used vs. New Prices

The Indian construction sector will grow 7.1% in 2024 (IMARC Group), pushing demand for budget equipment. Here's the breakdown:

New carbon steel rods: INR9,800-INR16,500/piece

Used rods (good condition): INR5,200-INR8,700/piece

Bulk wholesale deals: INR4,300-INR6,900/piece for 50+ units

Case Study: How Mumbai Builder Saved 30%

Ajay Construction bought 120 used rods from a China-based supplier through an Indian wholesaler. Total saved: INR4.2 lakh compared to local new rods. "We tested samples first," says owner Rakesh Mehta. "Used rods handled 800-meter projects perfectly."

3 Must-Ask Questions Before Buying

Is the supplier ISO 9001-certified?

What's the rod's previous drilling depth?

Can I get a free quotation with GST breakdown?

Where to Find Reliable Deals

Top platforms like IndustryBuying and TradeIndia list 100+ suppliers. German-used rods cost 15-20% more but often include warranties. For urgent needs, check Surat and Hyderabad markets - some vendors offer same-day dispatch after video verification.

Pro tip: Always compare price per piece including transport. A "cheap" INR5,500 rod from Uttar Pradesh might cost INR1,200/km in shipping vs. INR6,800 local options.

Policy Boost: Make in India + Mining Reforms

The 2023 Mining Amendment Bill encourages equipment reuse, with tax rebates for recycling vendors. This supports suppliers offering pre-tested second-hand drilling rods with ROI reports. Some states like Rajasthan
