Second Hand Four-Wheel Screw Diesel Compressor Price in Colombia 2024: Deals, Quotation & Buying Tips

Need a second-hand four-wheel screw diesel compressor in Colombia? You're not alone. Construction firms and mining operators are snapping up used models to cut costs - but unreliable pricing data leaves many buyers overpaying. Let's break down 2024 prices, trusted suppliers, and smart buying strategies.

Why Used Four-Wheel Models Dominate Colombia's Market

Colombia's mining sector grew 18% in 2023 (National Mining Agency), driving demand for mobile compressors. New Atlas Copco units cost $35,000+, while refurbished screw diesel compressors sell for $8,000-$25,000. China now supplies 43% of Colombia's used machinery imports at 15-30% lower prices than European models.

Real-World Pricing Examples (July 2024)

2019 Ingersoll Rand XHP1170: $18,500 (2,000 hours)

Refurbished Sullair 1850CFM: $12,750 w/6-month warranty

Chinese-built PowerDrive PD900: $7,900 (import duty included)

How to Avoid Costly Buying Mistakes

Medellin contractor Marco Ruiz learned this the hard way: His $10,000 "bargain" compressor needed $3,200 in immediate repairs. Always:

Verify hour meter readings with dealer service records

Request live video inspections via WhatsApp

Compare price per operating hour (Total cost / Engine hours remaining)

3 Suppliers Beating 2024 Price Hikes

Bogota-based Maquinaria Ocr offers pre-inspected Atlas Copco units with 2-year ROI guarantees. For budget buyers, Guangdong's Sinotruck Machinery ships certified-used models to Cartagena in 18 days. Local favorite Equipos y Servicios SAS provides turnkey solutions including customs clearance.

The Hidden Savings in Proper Specifications

A Coffee Region mining company saved 34% by switching from a 250CFM new unit ($28k) to a used 350CFM screw compressor ($16k + $2k upgrades). Their secret? Buying oversized second-hand capacity at 57% of new prices.
